

Shin Yeh Restaurant, 177

River Valley Road, Liang Court Shopping Centre, #02-19 (6338 7337): Something that visitors to Taiwan often rave about - the local delicacies. The good news is that Shin Yeh, one of Taiwan's most well-known restaurant chains, has set up shop in Singapore. I made a personal trip to the 300-seater restaurant recently and was so impressed by its courteous staff and tasty authentic Taiwanese fare that I just can't keep mum about this place.

Must have: All dishes here - whipped up by Taiwanese chefs - are tasty. Especially delicious though, are the tender pan-fried pig's liver with coriander (request for medium-doneness), and the sea clam with baby spinach, with a broth that leaves a sweet aftertaste. For dessert, order the deceptively plain-looking but chewy-soft almond jelly.
